Sustainability: our biggest value

Responsible cultivation: our suppliers' objective is to contribute to the development and sustainability of local producers while minimising their carbon footprint.

Traceability and quality of raw ingredients: Sophim wants to offer products that are traceable and whose quality is guaranteed.

Our partners' proximity to their raw ingredients ensures this transparency. This proximity also guarantees the quality of our products: reduced transport times preserve the quality of the seeds, plant or fruit, which are harvested at the opportune stage of growth and do not suffer the drawbacks of a long journey before processing. Proximity also helps reduce our products' carbon footprint.

Organic farming standards and circular economy: our oil suppliers work in organic farming and do not add any chemicals or additives to their natural oils. What's more, the principles of circular economy and sustainability are applied when processing the oil.

Seasoned family and artisan know-how: our suppliers are experts at producing organic vegetable oils. Like Sophim, they are family businesses on a human scale, some of which have been passed down from generation to generation. Today, driven by the modern vision of the founders and their children, our suppliers and Sophim unite around a common expertise, dear to their respective family histories: producing natural ingredients for cosmetics. Passing on know-how and sharing technical knowledge are key elements, so each stage of production can be carried out with respect for the product.
